Notes

From obs (3/29/20): "This 44* slope failed 12" under the surface of the snow on a hard crust as we descended to help another stuck rider in a tree. Another layer exists 2" below the failed layer which persisted to follow me down the hill rupturing as fault lines as I continued rapidly down the hill after extracting the stuck rider. While the remaining slope only fractured without chasing me down the hill... "Photo: TJ Krob

On 3/30 forecasters saw two other different slides that broke a foot deep on surface hoar (photo).
