Activity

Skiing

We went up to check out the bottom of The Great One and saw where the old slide occurred. Wind loading had already built up snow right at the crown. We did some pole made single columns and consistently pulled off 6 inch chunks. We turned around and skied the lower part of The Great One. We dug two pits below The Other One and had the lower pit fail a ect at 26 and the higher one at 13. I attached a video of the lower pit. We turned around and skied out after.
