

This wet snow avalanche was intentionally triggered by a ski patroller on a steep south facing slope on Lone Mountain. This slide is notable because it started as a small wet loose snow slide but quickly entrained more snow as it stepped down into facets at the ground. It deposited debris 2-4 ft deep. Photo - S. DeDiasio

Advisory Region
Northern Madison

Longitude
-111.45W
Latitude
45.28N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Thu Mar 18, 2010
Northern Madison, 2010-03-17